OWNERSHIP CHANGE

Before naming a new owner, please review your contract terms. The owner controls the contract. The annuitant is the individual whose life serves as the measuring life for purposes of determining benefits to be paid out under the contract. If the owner and annuitant are different, different rules apply at the death of the owner. Ownership changes between individuals are generally taxable (except between spouses). If the ownership change is taxable based on the Internal Revenue Code section 72(e), we will follow those guidelines set forth. If new owner is a trust, please DO NOT send us the entire trust document. Please only send in the page listing the name of the trust, the page listing the trustees and successor trustees, and the signature page. To process the ownership change, we need (1) the Entity Owner Certificate form, (2) the IRS Tax ID# for the trust unless the trust is revocable or a grantor-type trust, and (3) the Change the Beneficiary section below completed to name the same trust as beneficiary. Unless otherwise required or designated in this form (e.g., if the trust is being made owner by this change), any existing beneficiary designation will remain in effect, notwithstanding the ownership change.

With respect to any trust designated as beneficiary, Western-Southern Life Assurance Company ("The Company") shall neither be obligated to inquire into the terms of the trust, nor shall The Company be chargeable with knowledge of the terms of the trust, and The Company will be fully discharged from all liability after payment of the death benefit proceeds under the contract to the trustee.

B. Ownership changes involving a trust may be subject to income taxation. Select one of the following:

- I certify that this ownership change involving a trust does not meet the criteria set forth in Internal Revenue Code Section 72(e). I understand that any gain in the contract will be reported to the Internal Revenue Service as taxable.
- I certify that this ownership change involving a trust between myself as an individual and the trust is not a taxable change of ownership under Internal Revenue Code section 72(e).

If neither box is checked, we will treat this as a taxable change of ownership, and any gain in the contract will be reported to the Internal Revenue Service as taxable. (We recommend you consult with your tax advisor if you have any questions regarding which box to check.)

SPOUSAL CONSENT (if applicable)

SPOUSAL CONSENT – Spousal consent is required if changing beneficiary on a contract subject to ERISA’s spousal consent requirements to a person other than a spouse (if married). Spousal consent is required for contracts where the owner resides or has resided in AZ, CA, ID, LA, NM NV, TX, WA or WI, if the spouse is not named as the sole primary beneficiary on the contract.

If you are married and have designated any primary beneficiary(ies) other than your spouse, your spouse may need to consent to a non-spouse being designated as beneficiary for any portion of its benefits. You may obtain such consent by having your spouse sign below. The Company is not liable for any consequences resulting from your failure to obtain proper consent.

I have reviewed this beneficiary designation and, as spouse of the contract owner, I consent to it and waive any rights I may have to the contract proceeds to the extent of this designation. This consent supersedes any prior spousal consent regarding the contract.
